

Artist Bio – Emma Crook

Emma Crook is a writer, poet and photographer living and working on Menang Noongar country in Kinjarling/Albany, Western Australia. She has an MA in Writing and has been published in various print and digital publications, including Womankind Magazine, Elbazin Magazine, Westerly and Plumwood Mountain Journal. She is represented by Blush Retail Gallery for Fine Art in Kinjarling/Albany, Western Australia. Emma's photography and writing often explores the layering of the domestic and the natural environment, as well as examining a life within, and on the edge of, isolated landscapes and bodies of water.